STARS OF THE WEEK:

26th January 2024

Bees. Autumn- Rose: Autumn has had such a positive week in Bee class this week. We have all noticed that she is going out of her way to be kind and caring with other children around the classroom-even offering to help the adults care for other children when they need it. She has shown a real nurturing and kind attitude to her peers this week. To top it off – Autumn-Rose has written some fabulous sentences about our story 'Whatever Next'. Well done, we are so proud of you!

Butterflies. Poppy: Poppy has had a great week this week. She is trying extra hard in her phonics and is trying hard to listen to instructions and remain focussed within her group sessions. Well done Poppy you really deserve to be our star of the week.

Squirrels. Cora: Another wonderful week in Squirrels class for Cora. She is always full of enthusiasm for our learning but has absolutely loved our new story this week. It was really funny! She has joined in with all our actions, had lots of fun carrying out the drama activities and produced some carefully thought-out writing as a result. Keep showing us your super ideas, Cora. Well done.

Frogs. Theodore: For a fantastic week in Frogs. Theodore has worked consistently during his lessons this week being ready to learn at all times. As well as this he has produced some excellent sentences during our writing sessions where he sat down and continued to write even when his friends had gone off to complete their busy jobs. Well done Theodore on a great week, keep up your fantastic effort!

Mice. Evie: Evie is our ray of sunshine in mice class. She always has a smile to share with us all and brightens our days with her positive attitude to school. Her can-do spirit is always there no matter what the lesson. Well done, Evie.

Hedgehogs. Matthew: Fantastic work this week, he has put so much effort into everything he does. He is so proud of himself when he completes a task independently and works really well in a team to support others. Keep being an awesome superstar!

Moles. Amaliia: Amaliia has consistently tried her best throughout her learning this week, we have all noticed how much Amaliia is trying to use her phonics to write sentences and join in during English. She is always contributing during Maths and working hard on becoming more independent. Well done, Amaliia!

"Together, we will make a difference."

Rabbits. Lawrence: Lawrence has made a real effort with his handwriting and his English work this week. He has some lovely ideas which have helped him create an interesting spine poem. He has noticed specific letters which he needs to work on in handwriting and is doing this more consistently. Keep it up!

Badgers. Amiya: Amiya has shown brilliant attitude to learning - great focus and effort in Maths this week in particular. This renewed effort is making a huge difference to her learning.

Foxes. Charlie D: Charlie is working so hard on his writing and in every area of the curriculum. He really shows that he wants to learn always tries his best. The improvement in his handwriting has been amazing. Keep up the great work Charlie.

Kingfishers. Thomas: Thomas has had a fantastic week and has worked confidently with others, adapting to different contexts and has taken responsibility for his own part in our Mayan dance. Thomas listened to his team and ensured his movements were dynamic and strong. What a fantastic performance!

Owls. Lyra: Lyra has had a great week in Owls. She has worked incredibly well in our English lessons on Pandora! She has written some beautiful sentences and shown amazing understanding of our toolkit! She has been contributed wonderful ideas and worked really well with the other students! Well done, Lyra!!

Kestrels. Taya: Taya has had a fantastic week and has worked particularly well in Maths, increasing her knowledge and understanding of algebra! She has been focussed, in all the sessions and has answered questions confidently. An amazing attitude Taya!

Sparrow Hawks. Logan: Logan has had yet another fantastic week. He has wowed us with his work in Maths where we have been introduced to the tricky subject of Algebra! In English he is one of the children who constantly contributes to lessons and provides us with stunning word choices and figurative language to use in our work. Well done, Logan!
