STARS OF THE WEEK:

2nd May 2025

Bees. Azal: This week we went on a walk to look for plants in our environment. Azal was absolutely filled with enthusiasm during this and asked and answered so many questions. It was a joy to see him filled with such wonder and interest in the natural world. This energy and enthusiasm to join in is present in all our learning. You make us very proud, Azal for your super attitude and your love of school.

Butterflies. Oakley: Wow Oakley, you have had a fantastic week. We have had such a great week with some lovely reading, writing and counting to 20. You were amazing in your focussed writing work when you were labelling your Gingerbread Man. You are kind, polite and a superb role model for all your friends.

Squirrels. Faith: Faith has been real superstar all week. She is working so hard in all of our lessons and is producing some amazing work. She is brilliant at retelling our new Talk for Writing story – The Lighthouse Keeper's Lunch and always does her best in phonics. She is very kind to everyone in the class and is brilliant at tidying up – well done Faith!

Frogs. Finley, Finley has had an amazing week coming into school positively and trying hard in lessons especially with phonics and writing. He has shown great resilience this week with always having a go. He has worn his glasses all week with a smile even though he has not really wanted to and he has been a positive support and help to others in Frogs. Well Done, Finley!

Mice. Esme: Esme is a superstar. She tries hard in every lesson. Her Maths has been superb this week doing capacity and recognising the line between repeater addition and multiplication. Your reading has been wonderful too. We are really proud of you Esme and you are setting such a good example to everyone in Mice class. Well done.

Hedgehogs. Henry: Henry has been trying really hard this week. We are really impressed with his resilience and readiness to learn. He has been keen to share his ideas with the class and has been successful working in different groups. Well done Henry, keep up the good work.

Moles. Cindy: This week, Cindy has been working hard in reading and writing and has been contributing to lessons. She is a joy to have in the class and is always excellently behaved. Well done, Cindy! Keep it up!

"Together, we will make a difference."

Rabbits. Niamh: Niamh is showing such a positive attitude to learning in all lessons. Her confidence is growing, and she is keen to share her ideas with her partner. Her drama skills have shone out in English sessions, and she should feel proud. Well done, Niamh!

Badgers. Anthony. Anthony continues to push himself and work hard in lessons. He's an amazing mathematician and his read and writing are making great progress too! He always gives 100% and tries his best to succeed. This is a quality that I know will bring him great success in the future. Well done, Anthony!

Foxes. Maizie: Maizie has been spotted by all the adults in Foxes this week for setting a good example. She always has her hand up to answer questions and is always ready to learn. She is keen to help others and takes pride in her work. Keep it up Maizie!

Kingfishers. Trinity: Trinity works at a consistently high standard. Throughout the year, she has applied herself to her learning and persevered, making excellent progress. This week, in Talk for Writing, for example, she has shown a fantastic attitude as we've learnt to retell our new class text together. Well done, Trinity!

Owls. Mini: Mini always works so hard during her group work with Mrs Deller. This week has been no different and Mini has blown our socks off with her knowledge of money. Well done Mini – keep being a super star!

Kestrels. Joshua: Joshua sometimes goes under the radar, as he is quiet and just 'gets on' with things. Therefore, I would like to make a shout out for him because he is extremely hard working, conscientious and determined to do the best he can – always! Fabulous Joshua, keep this up.

Sparrowhawks. Ava: I have chosen Ava this week as she is showing good focus and a strong work ethic in the run up to our SATS. She is also contributing lots of ideas and answering questions much more in our lessons. Well done, Ava- keep up this fantastic work and you will reap the rewards!
