STARS OF THE WEEK:

7th March 2025

Bees. Charlie: This week, Charlie has embraced everything to do with our love of books. He has enjoyed dressing up, moving to music and talking about what happened to the character in our story about accepting differences. He has also loved reading with lots of different children. A super week, Charlie. Well done.

Butterflies. Alexis: Alexis you are just wonderful. You are trying so hard in everything you do. You listen hard, answer questions and you are becoming much more confident when completing your independent writing activities. We are all so proud of you.

Squirrels. Louie: Louie has been amazing this week as he is every week. He always works extremely hard both during whole class sessions and when doing his independent work. He is a great friend to others in Squirrels class and is always kind and helpful. Keep it up Louie!

Frogs. Emmy: Emmy is an always person! She is always trying her best, always working hard, always well behaved and always pushing herself a little further. This week she has impressed me every day with her work ethic and being very resilient with some tricky maths! Well done, Emmy!

Mice. Charlie T: Amazing work this week Charlie on your Maths and your creative writing. You are really trying hard with punctuation. You are always ready to work and are such a careful listener. We love having you in Mice as you set such a wonderful example. Well done, Charlie!

Hedgehogs. Cora: Cora has been trying really hard in Maths this week. She has been consistently participating on the carpet and has been showing all the skills she has learnt in Year 2 so far. Well done, Cora, keep up the hard work!

Moles. Evie: Evie constantly works hard in all her lessons and her behaviour is excellent. For the past few weeks, she has been developing her friendships and has worked really hard with Mrs Hodgkin in ELSA too. We're all really proud of her efforts – well done Evie!

Rabbits. Brady: Brady has shown his caring and nurturing side this week by looking out for others. He has worked hard on being an independent learner and we are really proud of his efforts. He was a superstar at swimming too! Keep it up Brady!

"Together, we will make a difference."

Badgers. Esmay: Esmay efforts and enthusiasm for schoolwork are unstoppable. Her ideas this week during World Book Day were also fantastic – Well Done Esmay!

Foxes. Poppy: Poppy has been trying really hard this week with her work and has been supportive friend to her peers. She is always a role model in class too! Well done, Poppy!

Kingfishers. Jasmine: Jasmine has a positive attitude in every area of her learning. She has been a role model in our gymnastic session this week, showcasing her team work skills and creativity.

Owls. Lexie: For always having such a positive attitude to learning and always being a ray of sunshine even when she finds things tricky. Lexie has also wowed us with her graphic novel design on World book day! Well done Lexie – keep being a superstar.

Kestrels. Teddy: Teddy is a great all round, consistently working hard in all areas of the curriculum. He listens intently, joins in with discussions and shows an interest in everything he does. An amazing attitude Teddy – keep this up!

Sparrowhawks. Cassius: Cassius has had a fantastic week. He has focused brilliantly on all his behaviour and work targets and has shown that he is striving hard to improve in all areas of the curriculum. I was particularly impressed with his contributions to our discussion on World book day too. Keep up the fantastic work and attitude Cassius- well done!
