STARS OF THE WEEK:

11th October 2024

Bees. Logan: For the last couple of weeks, Logan has been showing us what a fantastically clever brain he has! He has been blending sounds in phonics to read words, joining in with our songs and counting objects. He has made us so proud. What a wonderful member of Bees class!

Butterflies. Harper: You have had a fantastic week Harper. We are so impressed with your concentration and enthusiasm during focussed activities. You are listening so hard in phonics, remembering your sounds and answering lots of questions. Keep up the great work Harper. Well Done!

Squirrels. Aniyah: Ainyah has been amazing since the start of term. She is such a kind and helpful member of Squirrels and is especially caring towards other children in the class. She also works extremely hard and has done some great writing this week! Well done, Aniyah!

Frogs. Leo: Leo has had an amazing week, he has been engaged in lessons, been an active participant in phonics, and created a lovely story in English. He has shown some amazing teamwork building marble runs, houses and toppling towers. Well done, Leo!

Mice. Bobby: Bobby has done some wonderful writing this week all about an alternative Little Red Riding Hood story. He has tried so hard to include similes and adjectives into his work. He has clearly listened very carefully in all our English lessons. Well done, Bobby.

Hedgehogs. Cara: Cara has done some amazing writing this week. She has tried hard to make sure she had everything that she needed into her story, including similes, adjectives and adverbs. Also, she carefully read back what she had written. Well done Cara!

Moles. George: George has tried hard this week in all of his lessons, but especially in Geography and English. He always comes into school with a positive attitude and is a great friend to other members of the class. Well done, George!

Rabbits. Ollie: Ollie has had a fantastic week in class. He has shown us his times table knowledge, as well as engaging with spellings in a morning. Ollie showed us his teamwork skills in Computing, where he was able to share his ideas with the class. We are so proud of you Ollie!

"Together, we will make a difference."

Badgers. Callum: Callum consistently puts in a superb amount of effort each week. Demonstrating excellent behaviour and teamwork whilst also being kind and helpful to others. Well done, Callum!

Foxes. Mira: Mira has done exceptionally well this week in English. She has produced an excellent piece of writing, containing all the toolkit elements. Well Done!!

Kingfishers. Zach: Zach ALWAYS embraces opportunities for new learning, he ALWAYS remains resilient, and he ALWAYS actively participates in his lessons. He is an 'Always' child who will make excellent progress this year, because he constantly gives 100% to his learning. Well done, Zach!

Owls. Lois: Lois is an absolute star in Owl class. She is always trying her best, always putting her hand up and always giving everything a go. What has caught our eye this week though, is her ability to be such a kind caring and helpful member of the class. She is always so supportive of whoever her partner is and always sets a brilliant example to her peers. Well done, Lois!

Kestrels. Jack: Jack has worked so hard this week but particularly in Maths, showing great resilience and determination. He has found the unit of work quite tricky and at times frustrating but has kept going, persevering and finally mastering it!

Sparrow Hawks. Mia: Mia is always impressing me with her high standard of work and wonderful curriculum knowledge. Her enthusiasm shines through every day. She is an absolute pleasure to have in the classroom!
