STARS OF THE WEEK:

21st March 2025

Bees. Lucio: As always, Lucio has been full of enthusiasm for our learning this week. He has made excellent contributions to our class discussions and asked some very thoughtful questions. He has also been working really well with his new learning partner by explaining carefully and helping his partner to stay focused. What a mature attitude, Lucio! It is wonderful to see how much you have grown since starting with us.

Butterflies. Kyjah: Kyjah we have been so impressed with your attitude to earning this week. You have been listening hard, answering lots of questions and trying your best to complete your writing activities. Keep up the great work. Well done!

Squirrels. Lottie: Lottie is a lovely person to have in the classroom and is always asking inquisitive questions. This week I have been especially impressed with her writing. She has added lots of detail and worked really hard on her handwriting. Well done, Lottie!

Frogs. Poppy: Poppy has had a wonderful week, she has worked so hard on her writing in English and has impressed me with her place value knowledge in Maths! Poppy is becoming more resilient with her work and striving to do a little bit more to make it even better! Well done, Poppy!

Mice. Charlie A: Charlie has been trying so hard this week. He has produced some lovely writing using time adverbials and has been thinking carefully about his learning in history & science when learning about the Great Fire Of London and planting plants! Well done, Charlie.

Hedgehogs. Ava: Ava has been trying so hard this week. She has been really engaged on the carpet and has constantly been sharing her amazing ideas. She has been trying really with her writing and in maths. Well done, Ava!

Moles. Penelope: Penelope has been working hard at being resilient and independent this week. She has been working especially hard in her writing and I'm looking forward to reading her story next week! She has come to school with a positive attitude and has been a kind and helpful member of our class. Well done, Penelope!

Rabbits. Brodie: Brodie is working hard at being resilient and independent in the classroom. He has shown us that he cares for his peers and is always polite. We are proud of Brodie's efforts in all that he does. Well done, Brodie!

"Together, we will make a difference."

Badgers. Jessica: Jessica continues to show excellent focus and effort in lessons. She works well with others and is happy to work in with anybody she is asked to. She's also been volunteering more of her answers and ideas this week, which I am really pleased to see. Well done JJ!

Foxes. Jacob: Jacob has had a great attitude to learning this week. He has been answering lots of questions and trying his best in all of his work. I'm very proud of you Jacob, well done!

Kingfishers. Iggy: Iggy's attitude towards his learning is ALWAYS exceptional. This is evident through his everyday classroom learning, but it's also been noted in his additional phonics sessions. We're really proud of you Iggy, well done!

Owls. Nell: Nell is an always child. She is always on task, always listening and always trying hard. This week she has impressed us with her fabulous writing skills. Nell produced a fabulous piece of writing in class with an amazingly detailed description of the setting. Well done Nell!

Kestrels. Sophia: Sophia has blown me away with her understanding of area and perimeter this week. She has persevered when it has become a little tricky, working through the calculations and deciphering what she needs to do to find the answer. A fabulous work ethic Sophia. Well done.

Sparrowhawks. Henry: This week I have chosen Henry for the effort he is putting into his writing. Over the last two weeks we have written a discussion text and a speech, and he has used all our toolkit devices to make these interesting, well-written and informative. Well done Henry - you are really flying with your writing!
