STARS OF THE WEEK:

28th March 2025

Bees Lilly: Over the last couple of weeks, Lilly has been trying so hard to focus on her reading and writing. She has made such an effort to join in with her group and to try new words on her own. Keep it up, Lilly.

Butterflies. Leesi: You have been an absolute star this week! You are focussing really hard on writing your simple sentences, forming your letters correctly and becoming much more confident when answering questions. Well done, Leesi!

Squirrels. Dulcie: Dulcie works hard every week, and this week has been no exception. She has written a brilliant piece of writing for her Awesome Authors task. As well as that she has been really kind and helpful around the classroom. Well done, Dulcie!

Frogs. Hugo B: Hugo has worked so hard on his writing all week, it has been amazing to see him apply his learning to his Awesome Authors task and checking his sentences without being prompted! Well done, Hugo!

Mice. Ethan: Ethan's writing this week has been fantastic. He has really worked hard on his ideas, cursive handwriting and the toolkit features. It is great to see you enjoying your writing too Ethan. Keep up the great work!

Hedgehogs. Nate: Nate has been trying super hard this week. He has been contributing lots of ideas, and we can see him becoming much more confident with his work. He has been trying super hard with his writing and maths. Well done, Nate!

Moles. Cindy. Cindy's behaviour has been excellent this week! She has been working really hard this week, especially in her writing. Well done Cindy!

Rabbits. Harry: Harry could be chosen every week for his behaviour in class. We are proud of his growing confidence, and he always puts maximum effort into every task. We love how positive he is with his peers. Keep it up Harry!

Badgers. Vemaan: Week in, week out Vemaan is a star pupil, showing excellent behaviour and a great work ethic. He puts lots of effort into everything he does, and it pays off in his results. Well done, Vemaan!

"Together, we will make a difference."

Foxes. Beth: Beth is my always child, I could choose her every week for her behaviour and work ethic. She has grown in confidence and wants to share her ideas with the class. Well done, Beth!

Kingfishers. Erin: Erin has worked so hard in all of her tests this week and she has achieved some wonderful scores as a result of all of her hard work throughout the year. Well done, Erin!

Owls. Ella: Ella has had an amazing week this week and has worked so hard through some of our tests. Ella, who sometimes struggles with her reading a little, has achieved so well and shown what hard work and determination can do! Well done, Ella!

Kestrels. Emily: This week Emily has blown us away with the progress she has made in reading, grammar and Maths. She has been working extremely hard in school and at home to achieve her great results. Fabulous effort Emily, keep it up.

Sparrowhawks. James: James has shown great resilience and determination during our practise assessments this week and done his absolute best. He also impressed me with the focus and detail he put into his Mother's Day card. Well done James - a great week!
