STARS OF THE WEEK:

11th July 2025

Bees. Esmae: We have been so impressed with your listening this week, Esmae. You were so sensible on our trip to the Wildlife Park and you impressed us by spotting so many animals on our way round. It was great to hear all the facts you remembered, see the enthusiasm on your face and see that you were doing exactly the right thing at the right time. What a super sensible Bee you were! You have also been helping your friends to sort out their disagreements, which shows a real increase in maturity. Well done, Esmae.

Butterflies. Kyjah: You have had a brilliant week this week Kyjah. You have been focussing hard in phonics, following the class rules and listening hard to your instructions. We were amazed by your behaviour when we visited Yorkshire Wildlife Park. You are definitely getting ready to move in Year 1. Well done!

Squirrels. Margo: Margo could be star every week. She works hard in every lesson and always tries her best. She is a fantastic helper around the classroom and I can rely on her to lots of jobs such as ensuring everyone hands in their reading books each week. She is a very friendly member of the class and always looks out for her friends. Well done, Margo!

Frogs. Enzo: Enzo has tried really hard this week with his learning especially with his writing and has shown great resilience. He has been demonstrating lots of good choices being a great role model to others in the classroom. As always, his creative ability has shined through in our choosing time. Well done, Enzo!

Mice. Madison: For being an Always child! She is always working hard, always trying her best, always being kind and always smiling! Well done Madison you have such a positive attitude to school.

Hedgehogs. Primrose: Prim has worked hard this week, especially with her writing and her spelling. She always has a positive attitude and tries her best in everything she does. Well done, Prim!

Moles. Lex: Lex has worked hard on his writing this week and has written an excellent shared write. He has shown great listening in class and has displayed good behaviour. Well done!

Rabbits. Max: Max has stood out this week for being a kind friend. He is always polite and supportive with his peers. He has such a positive attitude towards learning and is setting a good role model for others. Keep it up Max!

"Together, we will make a difference."

Badgers. Aubree: Aubree was a stand-out star during our Egyptian production. She remembered her lines perfectly, had excellent stage presence and spoke with such wonderful expression. Well done and thank you Aubree.

Foxes. Eva: Eva did an amazing job during our Egyptian performance. She had wonderful expression and learned her lines and gave such a great performance. Well done, Eva!

Kingfishers. Rafe: Rafe has a great attitude towards all aspects of his learning. He is engaged and motivated. This has very well-illustrated through his recent test scores! We're really proud of you Rafe! Well done!

Owls. Ella: This week has been difficult because Ella injured her wrist, but she has been so sensible and hardworking, and she lets nothing stop her. This week she has produced beautiful writing in both Geography and English and we could not be prouder of her! Well done, Ella!

Kestrels. All the Kestrels deserve Star of the Week because they have worked extremely hard all year, achieving some fantastic SATs results this week. We are so proud of how they have done. Fantastic everyone!

Sparrowhawks. Cassius: I have been so impressed with Cassius' enthusiasm towards our play rehearsals and his brilliant performing skills which include his singing and his acting in our production. Well done, Cassius- you should be very proud of yourself!
